New Mobility Pendant grabs attention

St Albans, UK, 17 November 2010: ICON is pleased to announce the launch of its own brand Mobility Pendant in the UK.

Based on Polycom's KIRK DECT technology the ICON Mobility Pendant provides two way speech communication with a supervising office and is also a panic button, a safety device for monitoring patients (or colleagues), a voice pager for contacting staff and an audio monitor.

The pendant provides two way speech with single button activation in a small, lightweight, easily carried solution. It is ideal for care workers, care receivers, lone workers, staff in secure institutions, and others in similar high risk or isolated workplaces.

Mark Shane sales manager at ICON commented,

“The ICON Mobility Pendant replaces the need for an employee to carry a handset. It is ideally suited to care homes where it can be used to provide a guardian angel service for care residents but, with its IP56 rating and durable design, is finding uses in other areas. Some of the uses we have come across are as a panic button or a paging solution for care givers and on-site nomads and as a safety and monitoring solution for lone workers”.
